CAP & GOWN

UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH • SEWANEE, TENNESSEE

1962

WE

TAKE GREAT PLEASURE TO

DEDICATE

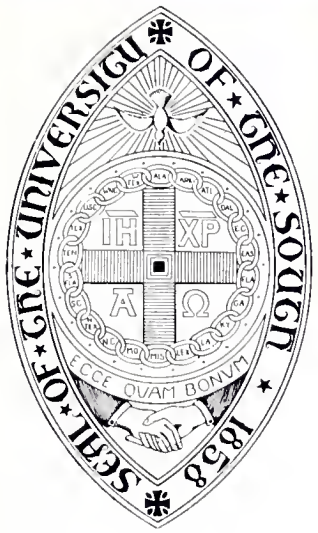
TO BISHOP FRANK A. JUHAN

This year's CAP AND GOWN is dedicated to Bishop Frank A. Juhan. The normal custom here would be to list his various accomplishments. In this particular case, however, such a list seems superfluous, since all of us are well aware of what Bishop Juhan has done for Sewanee. As an athlete, a member of the clergy, and finally, as a man, Bishop Juhan epitomizes everything this university stands for. It is with pleasure that we dedicate the 1962 CAP AND GOWN to him.

THIS IS SEWANEE

I don't suppose there is a man up here who hasn't, at one time or another, hated this place, hated it for its fog and rain, for its days of unrelieved dullness, for the utter loneliness of its rooms at night with the wind outside. And yet, I don't suppose there is a man up here who hasn't also felt, at one time or another, a fierce pride at being here, a pride born out of his sense that he has passed some sort of intellectual and spiritual test, that he has withstood and triumphed over the fog and rain and intellectual strain. This is what Sewanee gives us, above all else, the bitter and iron taste of life. It is a gift, a gift in some ways more precious than gold coin.

FALL



ALMA MATER

Alma Mater, Sewanee,
My glorious Mother ever be.
I will give my all to thee—
God bless thee to eternity.

Thou canst make me worth the while,
O guide and shelter me,
And all my life, through storm and strife,
My star thou'lt be.

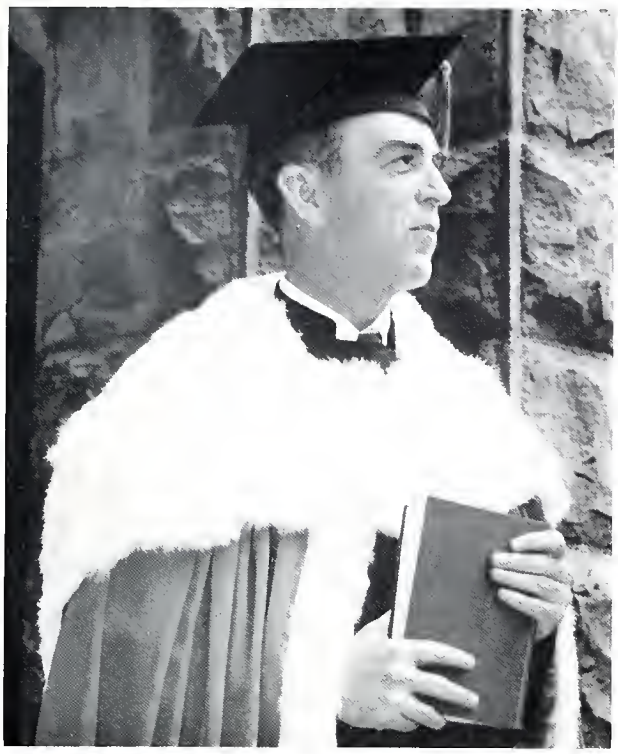
ADMINISTRATION . . .

THE CHANCELLOR

The Rt. Rev. Charles Colcock Jones Carpenter, sixth bishop of Alabama, became acting chancellor of the university upon the death of Bishop Carruthers in June, 1960. The senior bishop among the active members of the board of trustees assumes the duties of chancellor automatically when the office falls vacant, and serves until the board meets again. Bishop Carpenter was elected by the board of trustees to serve for a regular six-year term at their meeting last June.

Bishop Carpenter was born in Augusta, Georgia, in 1899. He attended Lawrenceville School and received a B.A. from Princeton, in 1921. In 1926 he earned a B.D. from the Virginia Theological Seminary, Princeton, Virginia, and Sewanee have given him D.D. degrees; from the University of Alabama, he has an LL.D. degree. He was rector of the Church of the Advent, Birmingham, until he was elected bishop of Alabama in 1938.

The principal duty of the chancellor of the University is to serve as president of the board of trustees. Honorary degrees are conferred by the chancellor; earned degrees are conferred by the vice-chancellor.



THE VICE CHANCELLOR

It is very rarely that an educational institution can boast of having as its leader a man who is a combination of as many intellectual interests as is Dr. Edward McCrady, Vice-Chancellor of the University of the South. The range of Dr. McCrady's interests range from biology, speleology, and theology to art and music. In previous years, he has received international renown in his capacity as senior research biologist at Oak Ridge. As a result of his movement in these varied fields with relative ease, he is a negative answer to the modern day myth of the specialized man. Dr. McCrady comes from a family closely associated with Sewanee, but he was educated at the College of Charleston, B.A., the University of Pennsylvania, Ph.D., and the University of Pittsburgh, M.S. The son of an Episcopal minister, Dr. McCrady has been very successful in combining modern science with Christianity. His influence has extended far from his Mountain home as the spokesman for the Sewanee ideal.

BOARD OF REGENTS

The Board of Regents, which is selected by the Board of Trustees, is the executive agency of the University. It is composed of three bishops, three priests, and six laymen of the Episcopal Church, with the Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellor serving as ex-officio members. It has the power of granting honorary degrees and of the government and maintenance of the University except the duties particularly reserved to the Board of Trustees.

THEOLOGY . . .

DEAN OF THE SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

DEAN ALEXANDER

The Very Reverend George M. Alexander.

Established in 1878 as a constituent college of the University of the South, the School of Theology, known as St. Luke's, is a seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Although it is under the same administration as the College of Arts and Sciences, it has its own dean and faculty.

The Very Reverend George Moyer Alexander is presently serving his sixth year as Dean of the School of Theology. He received his B.A. and B.D. degrees from Sewanee. Two years ago he turned down an offer of a bishopric to remain as Dean.

Before coming to Sewanee, Dean Alexander was very active in the Diocese of Florida. He served as rector of several parishes there, was editor of "Florida Forth" magazine for five years, and served as secretary of the diocese. Just prior to his becoming Dean of the School of Theology, he was rector of Trinity parish in Columbia, S.C. During this rectorship, he served for six years as a member of the University Board of Regents.

Previous to his return to Sewanee, Dean Alexander spent a year studying all phases of theological school work at the General Theological Seminary.

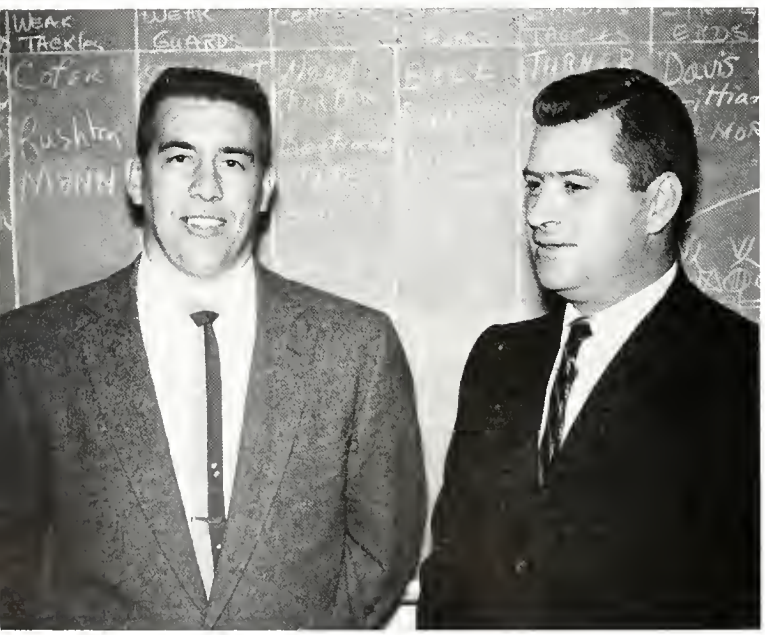
TIGER COACHING STAFF

Coaches Carter and Moore go over next year's prospects.



Coach Shirley Majors, beginning his fifth year as Sewanee's head football coach, welcomed nearly fifty candidates for fall drills in early September.

Among them were 28 returnees from last year's squad, 19 of whom earned a letter in 1960. In addition to these players, Coach Majors had on hand 21 freshmen, many of whom showed great promise for future seasons while seeing action in this season's games.

As the beginning of the season approached, the squad proved to be an experienced one, but at the same time lacking in the all-important depth department. An exception was at the tailback position, where three men who held down the post last year returned. Junior Wallace Pinkley and sophomore Larry Majors were splitting the tailback duties while another sophomore, M. L. Agnew, was running from the fullback and wingback slots in addition to his work at tailback. At fullback, Coach Majors had Sam Gill, who was switched to that position from tailback. The wingback post was held down by Captain Frank Kinnett, while Hayes Noel and T. Cooper battled it out for the blocking back job.

In the opening game of the year, Sewanee journeyed to Jackson, Mississippi, to take on Millsaps College. Millsaps Homecoming rooters had to be content with a 0-0 deadlock as both teams played fine defensive ball.

Four times Millsaps pushed deep into Sewanee territory, but each time the Tiger line was able to stop the drive.

TIGER SQUAD

At one point, Millsaps had a first down on the Sewanee three-yard line, but three futile cracks at the stout Sewanee line and an incomplete pass ended the threat.

Sewanee moved into the win column the following Saturday with a 21-9 victory over Hampden-Sydney at Hardee Field. M. L. Agnew paced the Sewanee offense, completing six of seven passes for 84 yards and rushing for 88 yards, including an 81-yard dash for the Tigers' first score. Agnew also scored from the one later in the game. Joe Brittain scored the other Tiger TD on an 11-yard aerial from Agnew.

Journeying to Sherman, Texas, the Tigers added a second win, defeating Austin College 21-12. After only seven minutes had elapsed, Sewanee trailed 12-0, but the Tiger defense stiffened and Austin was through for the afternoon. Fullback Sam Gill scored just before the half and Sewanee trailed 12-7. The second Tiger TD came on a seven-yard pass from Agnew to end Bob Davis. Sewanee's final tally came when Wallace Pinkley cracked over from the two-yard line with only one minute left in the game.

Homecoming Weekend was a happy one for Tiger supporters as their team dumped Randolph-Macon 21-0. Pinkley passed to end Tom Moore for the first touchdown. Late in the third quarter, Pinkley went over from the three after Frank Kinnett had run an intercepted pass to the Randolph-Macon five. The final score came on a 31-yard

The Tigers next traveled to Danville, Kentucky to meet the Centre Colonels. The Sewanee offense was at its peak that day and turned the game into a 41-0 rout. Gill, tailback Larry Majors, and freshmen Ray Tucker, Harrell Harrison and Frank Stubblefield all tallied for Sewanee. Shasteen kicked five extra points to complete the scoring.

Sewanee stretched its win streak to five with a 27-12 decision over Southwestern in Memphis. The Tigers scored first on an 11-yard pass from Agnew to Davis. Following a Southwestern touchdown, Agnew took the kickoff and raced 88 yards to put Sewanee back in front. In the third quarter, Larry Majors scored from two yards out. Late in the game, Pinkley cut over right tackle and went 40 yards for Sewanee's final TD.

Hopes for an undefeated season were smashed the following Saturday as the Tigers lost to Washington and Lee 26-8. The three units used by W & L were too much for the outmanned Sewanee team. Sewanee's only score came on a 7-yard pass from Agnew to end Tom Moore, climaxing a 64-yard drive.

The Tigers ended the season on a losing note, falling to Mississippi College 42-6. The Choctaws unveiled a powerful offense built around quarterback, Alton Greenlee, which struck from all over the field. Six different players scored for Mississippi College as the Tiger defense had its worst day of the season. Ray Tucker scored Sewanee's only touchdown on a one-yard plunge.

The loss left Sewanee with a 5-2-1 mark for the season.

Statistics released at the end of the season showed M. L. Agnew to be the team's total offense leader with 740 yards gained on 146 plays. Agnew rushed for 250 yards and passed for 540. The leading ground gainer was Sam Gill who piled up 477 yards on 144 carries for a 3.3 average.

Tailback Wallace Pinkley was third in total offense with a 456-yard total, 286 rushing and 170 passing. He was followed by tailback Larry Majors who racked up 279 yards rushing and 36 through the air.

Among the freshmen performers, fullback Ray Tucker gained 102 yards in 23 carries while Harrell Harrison piled up 48 yards in 7 tries. Jo Colmore was on the receiving end of 8 passes good for 77 yards.

Agnew was also Sewanee's leading scorer with 22 points. He was closely followed by Bob Davis, who tallied 20, and Majors and Pinkley with 18 each. Bill Shasteen was fifth in total scoring with 13 points, all coming on conversions.

At the team's awards banquet at the end of the season, Agnew was named the most valuable back and John Turner received the outstanding lineman award. Bill Yates won the most improved player citation and Jim Stewart was voted the outstanding freshman of the year. Pinkley and Turner were selected by their teammates as co-captains for the 1962 season.

BASKETBALL

While Sewanee men were still watching the football team perform on Saturdays, Coach Lon Varnell began working with his 14th Sewanee team early in October.

Faced with a problem of only four returning lettermen from the 1960-61 team, Coach Varnell tackled the job with his usual enthusiasm and produced a team which provided a great deal of entertainment to the faithful handfuls who turned out to watch it perform.

Two of the returning lettermen were Sparky Edgin, senior forward and captain, and junior guard John Smith. This pair ranked 1-2 in scoring in 1960-61 and were being counted on heavily to carry the offensive load again. Other veterans were forward Bucky Gearinger, senior alternate captain, and sophomore guard Dan Duncan.

Added to this nucleus were sophomore center Mit Fitz-Simons, two transfers, Tom Dykes and Jack Royster, and a fine group of freshman performers.

Sewanee opened the season on its home floor, taking on the Centre Colonels. Displaying a well-balanced scoring attack, the Tigers turned in an impressive 73-61 win to kick the season off in fine style. Four of the starters hit the double figures in scoring, with Edgin leading the way with 20 points. Right behind him were the two guards, Dykes and Smith, with 17 and 16 markers, respectively.

The Tigers were forced to play the next six games of the schedule without Smith, who suffered an attack of mononucleosis. Two days after the season opener, Sewanee journeyed to Nashville for its annual meeting with the powerful Vanderbilt Commodores. Vandy proved too strong and too fast for Sewanee and came out on the long end of a 76-43 score. Edgin, playing on a bad ankle, again led Sewanee scorers with 18 points.

Sewanee's next opponent was the Millsaps Majors, who came up the Mountain for two games. Spectators at the two tilts were treated to two entirely different styles of basketball. In the first game, Sewanee started fast and the Majors never knew what happened. The final score was a lop-sided 109-42. Edgin hit for 15 points before being taken out in the first half. The high scorer for the Tigers was Gearinger, who scored a career high of 20 points. Mit FitzSimons, starting his first game at center, turned in an 18-point effort, as did Dan Duncan. The following evening, Millsaps came out with a super-slowed down game and held Sewanee to 23 points. The Majors were able to get only six themselves, all in the first half, and were defeated again.

The Tigers then departed on their longest road trip of the year, traveling to sunny Florida for three games. Meeting Rollins College in the opening round of the Citrus Invitational Tournament held at Lakeland, Sewanee posted a close 62-60 win to advance to the finals against the host team, Florida-Southern. Edgin was the big gun for Sewanee with 18 points, followed by FitzSimons with 14 and Dykes with 11.

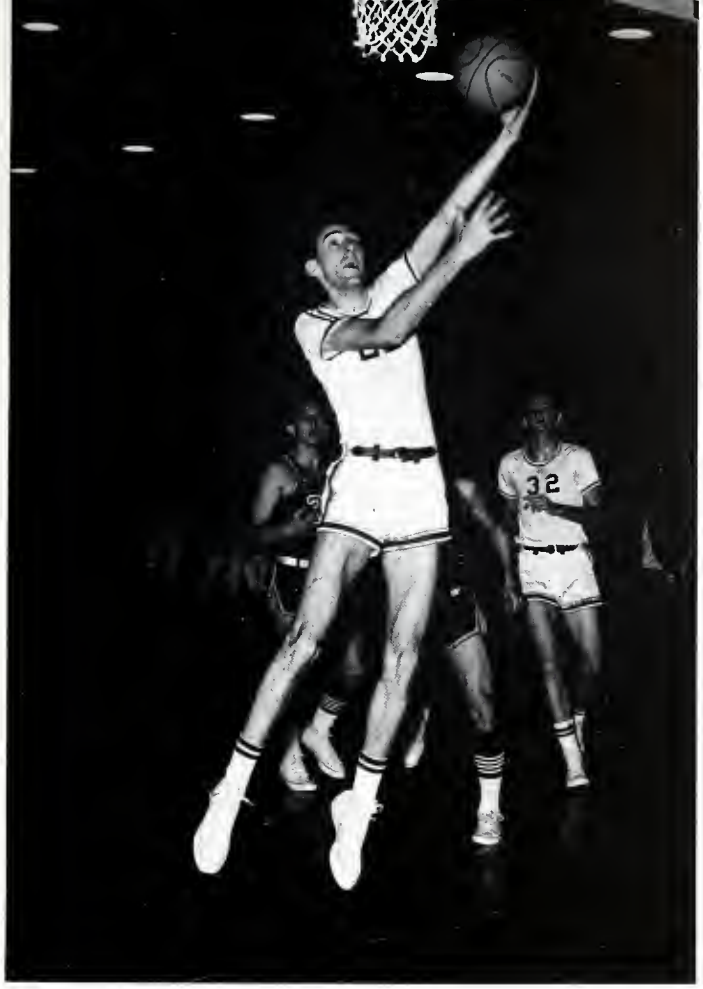
Against Florida-Southern, the Tigers fell behind 40-31 at the half, but came back strong in the second half behind the hot shooting of freshman guard Joe Drayton to tie the score 66-66 at the end of the game. The Tigers battled Florida-Southern on even terms for two overtimes before losing in the third extra period. Drayton poured in 31 points and was named to the All-tournament team for his effort.

Playing for the third time in three days, Sewanee moved to DeLand to take on the perennial small college basketball power, Stetson. The Hatters moved to a 44-29 halftime lead but Sewanee put on a rush at the finish and cut the margin to 68-62 as the game ended. Edgins with 23 and FitzSimons with 13 led the Sewanee attack.

After the long Christmas holiday layoff, the Tigers returned to action against Tusculum College in Juban Gymnasium. Sewanee didn't appear the least bit rusty as they rolled to a 74-61 victory. Edgin was again the leading scorer with 28 tallies, but the bright spot in the game was the return of John Smith, who added 21 points to the Sewanee total.



Royster scores from underneath the bucket.

BASKETBALL

Sewanee evened the score with Birmingham-Southern by scoring a 48-38 victory over the Panthers from Birmingham-Southern. A strong Sewanee defense more than made up for the sub-par offensive showing by holding Birmingham-Southern to only 24 per cent of its shots from the floor. Sparky Edgin with 23 points was the only Tiger to hit in the double figures.

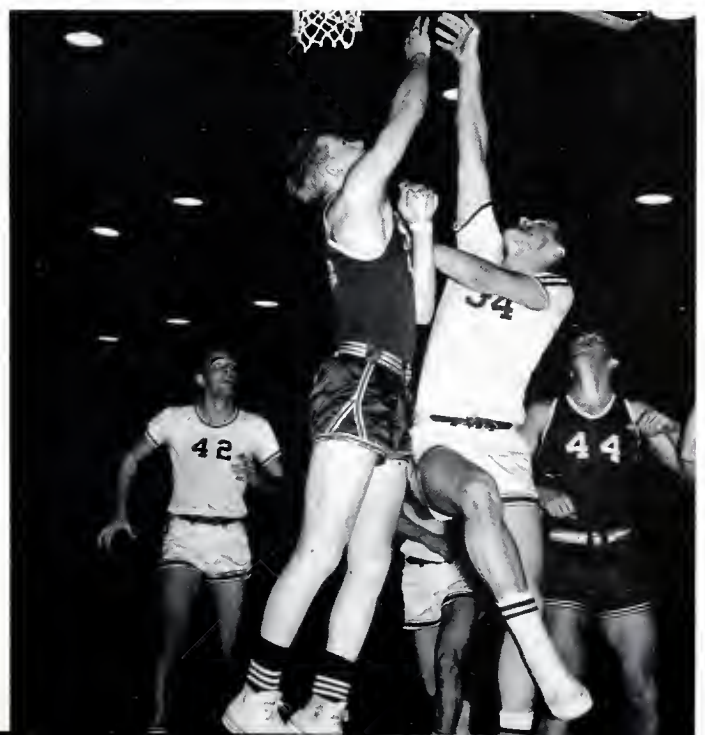
Following exams, the Tigers met powerful Huntingdon College of Montgomery. The backgrounnd of the game was somewhat similar to last year's Mississippi College game. The Hawk squad was on a 13-game win streak and was rated one of the top small college teams in the South. Attendance at the game was nowhere near that of the Mississippi College game, but the Tigers were equal to their task and throttled the Huntingdon offense, winning 73-67. Edgin played one of his finest games of the season, scoring 29 points. Mit FitzSimons turned in another outstanding performance, adding 24 markers.

Road trouble again plagued the Tigers as they lost to Lambuth College in Jackson, Tenn., by a 66-64 margin. Edgin with 23 and Drayton with 17 led Sewanee's offense. Traveling to Memphis the next day, Sewanee posted a second win over Southwestern, 82-65. Edgin reached his season's peak with a 37-point output, to pace the Sewanee offense.

Sewanee avenged the defeat to Lambuth with a convincing 88-67 win in Juhan Gymnasium. Edgin with 26 points and FitzSimons with 19 led Sewanee. The Tigers followed up with a lackluster 54-31 win over Birmingham-Southern.

The Tigers closed out the season in Montgomery in a second meeting with Huntingdon. This time Huntingdon turned the tables and handed Sewanee a 69-61 defeat. The loss left Sewanee with an 11-6 record for the year.

Gearinger rebounds.



SWIMMING

At the beginning of the season things looked pretty bleak for Swimming Coach Ted Bitondo. Although there were some ten returning lettermen and the largest number of swimmers ever to turn out for an initial practice, there was still a decided lack of experienced swimmers. This sore spot was especially felt in the freestyle sprints—one of the most important events. However, some very talented freshmen brightened the picture somewhat as the season progressed and the Tiger mermen managed to complete their schedule much better than was expected with a 6-6 record.

The first meet of the season—held in December this year—against The Citadel resulted in a 31-64 Tiger defeat. This, however, was followed by two crushing victories for the Sewanee tankmen over the University of Kentucky (63-32) and Emory University (52-43). A string of four defeats was next in score for the Tigers as they fell to the powerful University of Florida (35-59); Georgia Tech (37-58); the University of Georgia (39-56); and the best team in the South this season, Florida State University (40-55). After dunking Eastern Kentucky State (57-36), the Purple Tide was blocked (38-57) by a greatly improved University of Alabama aggregation. The Tigers closed out their season in style, however, with a string of three victories over Tulane University (61-32), Vanderbilt (57-37), and the University of Louisville (51-44).

In the sprints, freshman Nevin Patton came through with flying colors to relieve one of the worst predicted events for the Tigers. Patton racked up some eleven wins in these events, cracked both the pool and school records in the 50-yard freestyle, and was high scorer for the squad with 77.75 points. Freshman Jim Thames, sophomore letterman Geoff Irani, and second-semester swimmer, Kip Culp, a sophomore letterman who came in after finishing a six-month stretch in the Army, also aided tremendously in the sprints. Sophomores Rusty Ingle, Allen Wallace, and Sam Dargan, and freshman Banks Clark provided depth to the sprinters.

The gruelling distance events were adequately filled by freshman Dave Darst, sophomore letterman Pat Byrne, and senior Co-Captain Bill Studeman. Darst did unusually well as a new swimmer and bettered both school records in the distance events. Harry Burns, a freshman, also helped out in this department.

Mike Flachmann, sophomore letterman, Ed Alderson, senior letterman, and Rick McIver, sophomore, were the main Tiger backstrokers this year. Flachmann broke a two-year-old school record in the 100 backstroke this season. Junior letterman George Lewis swam on a few occasions in this event but was used mainly in another event.

Tiger butterflyers were senior Co-Captain Charlie Robinson, George Lewis, and Jim Thames. Four-year letterman Robinson was the mainstay in this event and reset the school record twice this season. Seniors Bill Studeman and Ed Alderson also swam the 'fly in some meets.

In the breaststroke sophomore letterman Fred Miller and freshmen Chris Booth and Al Stone did a fine job. Miller and Booth were about even in this stroke for much of the season, but Miller was able to better his own school record set last season by three-tenths of a second.

WRESTLING

The 1962 wrestling season proved to be the best in history for the Sewanee grapplers. Losing only one out of six meets, the Tigers also finished second in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Championships and tied for first place in the Chattanooga Invitational Tournament.

In the 123-lb. class junior Hank Haynes finished his best season thus far. Haynes, a three-year letterman, seized the Southeastern Intercollegiate crown in his weight class and earned high-scoring honors for the team by accumulating some 36 points.

Freshman Bill Hamilton filled the 130-lb. slot very adequately this year and went undefeated through the first four matches. Bill finished third in the Southeastern standings.

The 137-lb. category saw sophomore transfer student Jay Paty grappling for the Tigers. Fighting hard throughout the entire season, and earning many valuable points, Paty was runner-up in the Championships.

Doug Seiters, a freshman and inexperienced wrestler, fought for the Purple in the 147-lb. class and finished fourth in the Southeastern Tourney. Sophomore Ed McLellan wrestled some exhibition matches in this category.

Co-Captain Fred Wunderlich, a four-year letterman, did an outstanding job for the Tigers at 157 pounds. Due to a knee injury, Fred only managed to finish third in the Southeastern meet but went undefeated through the regular season.

In the 167-lb. class newcomer Frank Pinney, a junior transfer from the Naval Academy, completed an excellent season. Pinney gave up only one dual match, received second place Championship honors, and was the team's third highest scorer. Sophomore letterman Tim Hughes also did a fine job of grappling in this category when, on two occasions, Pinney was moved up to the 177-lb. class.

The Tigers' perennial threat, senior Co-Captain Bill "Bear" Yates, again proved his superior wrestling skill by finishing his third undefeated season in the 177-lb. class. Among other honors, Yates was the Southeastern Champ for the third consecutive time, was again rated as one of the top wrestlers in the South, and was the second highest scorer on the squad with 35 points. This year Bill ended a career which is unequaled in the history of wrestling at Sewanee.

Finishing the season with an enviable 5-1 record the Tigers scored victories over Emory (33-2), Georgia (27-3), Maryville (22-5), Alabama (36-0), and the University of Chattanooga (18-13). Their only loss was to the powerful Auburn Plainsmen (12-14) who also edged them out in the Southeastern Championships. The Tigers tied for second place with Chattanooga in the SEC.

Sewanee's highly successful season is due in large amount to the untiring efforts of Coach Horace Moore, one of the best wrestling mentors in the business. Co-Captains Yates and Wunderlich also deserve praise for their excellent leadership and team spirit.

GOLF

This year marks a new era for Sewanee linksters. The Sewanee golfers, for the first time ever, will play on grass greens. Between seasons, the Sewanee golf course, under the able direction of Coach Walter Bryant, was completely renovated.

The golf team is eagerly anticipating a successful season on the new course. The team will be led this year by Captain Ted Stirling, a three-year letterman. The other returning lettermen are: Jake Ingram, Townsend Collins, Jim Wimer, and Tom Wise. These men will be backed up by Ed Taylor, Pete Phillips, Bill Thrower, and Rich Braugh.

The team will greatly miss the services of Rufus Wallingford, who played at the number one position last year, but who will be unable to play this year. The Tigers will open their season in a dual match with Mississippi State on April 4th. During the season the Tigers will face such formidable foes as Auburn, Chattanooga, Southwestern, Vanderbilt, Lambuth, Union, St. Bernard, and David Lipscomb.

The season will be climaxed with the T.I.A.C. Tournament, which will be held in Sewanee, and the S.I.T. in Athens, Georgia, one of the most important collegiate tournaments in the U.S.

Coach Bryant is expectant of a fine season despite the tough schedule ahead.

TENNIS

The netmen in 1961 compiled the most outstanding record of any varsity athletic contingent on the Mountain. Dean Bruton culminated last year's season by guiding his talented squad to an overwhelming victory in the annual Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Association tourney held at the Bruton Courts here in Sewanee. The Tigers will host the Tennessee schools in this decisive tournament for the second straight season.

Every member of last year's talented squad returns except Frank Robson and John Buss, to uphold Sewanee's honor on the tennis court, and only one of these returning men is a senior. Captain, and number-one man for his third season, senior Phil George will ably lead the Tigers with his smashing forehand and array of ground strokes.

George's doubles partner, Ed "Junkman" Hatch, is back for his third year. Number-two man Hatch had the most consistent won-lost record of any member on the team last season.

Moving up to replace Robson will be another capable Charlestonian, Felix Pelzer who has shown real proficiency on the court thus far. Crackerjack competitor, J. Bondurant, and junior Stan Marks will be hard pressed to beat out the new men. The freshmen should play a strategic role in the success of the team.

Freshmen Tom Rowland and John VanderHorst have displayed skillful and competent court play in all practice matches as they prepare for the spring tour. Remaining freshmen Sandy Lumpkin, Bill Covington, J. Freeman, and Jim Folbre will all vie for the number seven spot.

Coach Bruton will depart from Sewanee with his top seven men and begin an extensive barnstorming tour through four Southern states: Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. The trip will end against Southeastern Conference foe, Tulane University in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The opposition for the rest of the season will be composed of: the University of Georgia, Vanderbilt, the University of Tennessee, Birmingham-Southern, David Lipscomb, and Saint Bernard. With such a strong nucleus of fine players, the Tigers should have no trouble in duplicating last year's sparkling season.

TRACK

After wading through a very trying 1961 season, last year's very young team picked up invaluable experience which will prove beneficial in combating their 1962 opponents and improving their previous one-four record.

Coach Horace Moore will be in charge of all the runners once more while Coach Clarence Carter will handle the field events. Coach Moore was a bit disappointed to discover the loss of last season's captains, Hank Bonar and Dave Barr. These two stars of the 1961 squad are attending school elsewhere this year.

The entire team is training extremely hard on a rigorous practice schedule in preparation for their important trip South during the spring holidays. They will meet Troy State on March 26th and then will encounter the Hatters of Stetson College in Deland, Florida for a two-day meet. If the Tiger's performance is satisfactory against the Stetson tracksters, then Sewanee will make an appearance at the celebrated Florida Relays which are to be held in Gainesville at the University of Florida. Both coaches seem very optimistic and think that there are at least six boys capable of making a very favorable showing at the meet in Gainesville.

The sprinters this year will be led by sophomores Larry Majors and Bud Roeder and will probably be backed up by the presence of freshman speedster, Jim Stewart.

Billy Hoole will be the primary hurdler while junior Frank DeSaix and senior John Shepherd will lead the talented array of middle distance men. This will be the bright spot of the 1962 team as three additional freshmen displayed unusual skills at the recent intramural track meet. These men are: Jack Fretwell, Doug Seiters and Charlie Ross.

Bruce Gibson and Jack Mitchell return to lead the distance men. Freshmen Jimmy Taylor, Jim Koger, Bob Archer, Reggie Davis, and Pete Baffaro will offer sufficient support.

E. R. Finlay has improved his technique and is nearing six feet in the high jump while broad jumper Jim Davenport has been consistently over twenty feet in pre-season workouts. Freshman Jo Colmore, easy victor in the intramural meet, will handle the pole vaulting chores.

Christie Hopkins and M. L. Agnew will lead the weightmen. M. L. Agnew broke the existing Sewanee javelin record twice during the 1961 season.

The Tigers will face Southwestern, Wheaton College, David Lipscomb, Emory, Lambuth, and Troy State in the remainder of their meets. Their season ends at the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet which will be held in Clarksville, Tennessee.

INTRAMURALS

Sewanee's intramural season got off to a fine start with the kickoff of touch football in September. There has been a great deal of interest in all sports this year, and the quality of the competition has been exceptionally good.

ATO and PGD went into the football season as the favorites, and lived up to this billing. PGD was given the edge in pre-season picks, but were beaten by KA in a stunning upset. KA's Bert Rogers, the league's most valuable defensive player, was instrumental in this game. This was the only blot on the Fijis' record as they took the field against the undefeated Ato's in the last game of the season. The Phi Gams, led by league all-stars Ben Smith and Christie Hopkins, and using second-term all-stars Doug Buleao, Ed Taylor and Bill Byrnes, made an all-out effort to win in one of the best attended and hardest fought intramural event of the year. But all-star tailback and offensive MVP Ed Ellzey of ATO carried the day, fighting it out with the Fijis for a 7-7 tie and wrapping up the league championship for ATO. The Phi Gams kept a tight grip on second place, however.

Further down the scale, BTP, sparked by all-stars Tom Greer and Jim Kolling fought their way to third place, barely edging the KAs. Kappa Alpha grabbed fourth place, mainly through the efforts of Rogers and league all-stars Stu McDaniel and Bobby Baker.

INTRAMURALS

Start of 880 relay.

The next event of the year, cross country, again brought an ATO victory, this time in a real runaway. The Ataus saw all five of their men finish in the first twenty-five. They were paced by Jack Fretwell and Bill Stirling, who finished third and fifth, respectively, out of a field of 139. Their low score of sixty-five was well under the second-place Phi Delts' ninety-four and the third place Delt's ninety-nine. The Phis were led by Dave Speights, who finished seventh, while fourth place Bruce Aldrich paced the Delts.

Individual honors went to Jay Paty of SAE, who navigated the two-mile course in 12:02.7, a very fine performance. Sigma Nu's Bruce Gibson captured second place.

Next on the agenda was the swimming meet, and it turned out to be another closely fought event. SAE swept to first place, utilizing an overpowering depth to outscore all other entries. Sparkling performances by freshman Nevin Patton and by their relay teams were factors in the Sig Alph victory.

Second place was snared by the Phi Delts, who got fine performances from David Darst and Bob Coleman. Chris Booth and Banks Clark led the Sigma Nus to third place. A fact which speaks well for the quality of competition in this meet is that Patton and Darst, along with ATO Jim Thames, who set two IM records, have established themselves as stars on this year's varsity swimming team.

unqualified success. Participation was high and much enthusiasm was generated. An element of pageantry and showmanship was initiated this year by spirited fraternity men. This culminated in the heavyweight semi-finals, where Phi Gam Wayne "Horrible Hog" Rushton defeated Walter "Terrible Tiger" Cowart in a bruising match. Both men appeared complete with robe, mask, and cigar-smoking managers.

The Phi Delts won the meet on the strength of many fine performances, notably those of Wilbur Wood and Billy Hamilton. SAE, led by scrappy Jay Paty, nailed down second place. They were followed by the Betas, whose attack was spear-headed by Cowart, Doug Seiters, and M. L. Agnew. Again, some fine varsity material showed up at an intramural meet. Paty, Hamilton and Seiters went on to become standout performers on the school wrestling team.

The volleyball race went true to form, with last year's champion Betas again emerging on top. Tom Greer, Jim Kolling, and Dale Carlberg turned in consistently good efforts all season to push BTP to the top. The ATOs put on a good race, and, led by Bill Stirling and John Shepherd, finished the regular season tied with the Betas. But BTP took the playoff game, relegating ATO to second place.

KA, a perennial volleyball power, finished in third place, their worst showing in many years. The backcourt efforts of Heyward Harvey and the spikes of Reed Finlay were big factors for the KAs. The Phi Gams, sparked by Christie Hopkins and Ben Smith, finished fourth.

In what was probably one of the closest races in Sewanee intramural history, four teams tied for first place at the end of the basketball regular season. PGD, ATO, BTP, and PDT finished with identical 8-2 records. The lead had see-sawed throughout the season, with all the above teams holding or sharing the lead at one time. Kappa Sig was also in contention until the last few games.

In the four-way post-season playoff which followed, the Phi Gams used all-stars Guy Dotson and Bill Byrnes to defeat the Phis and ATOs and wrap up first place. ATO, led by league MVP Bill Stirling and all-star Gerry DeBlois, knocked off the Betas to gain second place. Beta took third, while the Phi Delts, whose top guard and league all-star Harry Babbit was playing with a cracked rib, wound up in fourth.

The all-over league standings now show ATO in first place with a comfortable thirty-five point lead over BTP and PGD, who are tied for second. However, the season is only half over, and the balance of power is pretty even in the remaining events. With handball, track, softball, golf, tennis, and badminton still to be completed, anything can happen and probably will. The race for the trophy will be close and probably won't be decided until the last sport.

THE ORDER OF GOWNSMEN

None of Sewanee's customs is more distinctive among American universities than the wearing of the gown. It was originally established as external evidence of the ties which bind Sewanee to Oxford and to the cultures and traditions of England. The gown was originally authorized for all students in 1871; and the Order of Gownsmen was established in 1873 at the instigation of Chaplain William Porcher DuBose, by the students who have worn the gown as a badge of honor ever since.

The Order of Gownsmen is the governing body of the students and by its Constitution undertakes to preserve the ideals of Sewanee. The gown is conferred on seniors with a 2.0 average, juniors with a 2.25 average, and sophomores with a 3.00 average for the previous semester (or two semesters in the case of sophomores). Students in the School of Theology are entitled to wear the gown but do not vote in OG meetings.

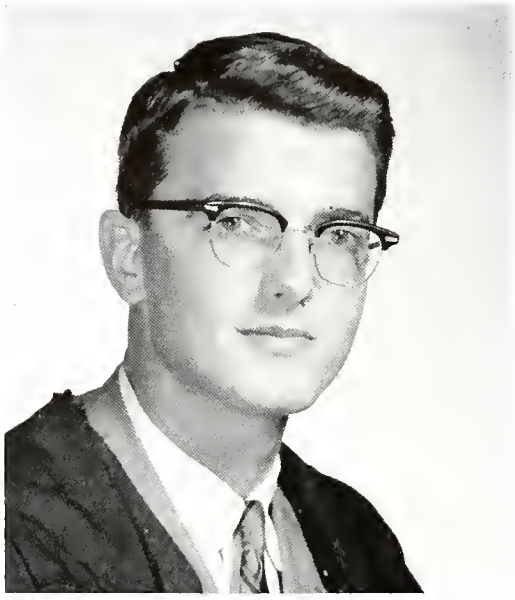
THE PROCTORS



Head Proctor
PHIL GEORGE

Sewanee's student proctors exhibit the university's desire to keep responsibility in the hands of the students, and this system is almost as old as the university itself. The basic function of the proctor is to maintain good conduct among the students not only in the dormitories, but also on the campus in general. Each dormitory has one proctor, and this proctor chooses an assistant. At the end of each year new proctors are chosen by the incumbent proctors, and their choices are subject to the approval of the administration. For the duties he performs and the responsibility he bears, each proctor receives a stipend each semester.

This position carries with it both honor and prestige, as a proctor knows he has the approval of both his fellow students and the administration. They often serve as a vital link between the students and the Dean, and they are the principle means by which school regulations are carried out in the dormitories. Thus, out-going proctors choose carefully their successors, and the new proctor can well be proud of his position.

THE HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor System is one of Sewanee's most cherished traditions, and it is indeed a tradition the students should all be proud of. The system is based on an Honor Code, which describes honor's ideals and an Honor Council, which interprets the code and listens to possible violations.

The Honor Council is composed of nine students, six from the College of Arts and Sciences and three from the Theological School. The six members from the college are two juniors and two seniors, all elected at the end of their sophomore year to serve for two years; one sophomore elected at the end of his freshman year to serve for one year; and one freshman elected in the beginning of his freshman year to serve for one year. Members from the Theological School are one senior and one middler, elected at the end of their junior year to serve for two years; and one junior elected in the fall of his junior year to serve for one year. Every member is elected by his own class.

Upon entering the University of the South, students must sign the Honor Code. This code assumes that any conception of honor demands that a man shall not lie, cheat or steal. This makes life at Sewanee one of mutual trust, and each student becomes more conscious of his own actions. These conceptions are strictly enforced by the students themselves, and violations are punishable by removal from school. Nevertheless, the atmosphere is still one of confidence. Examinations are not supervised and a student may leave his books in the union with the assurance of knowing they will be there when he returns. This high standard of honor shows the trust and privilege accorded the students and insures the integrity of the graduate of Sewanee.

THE 1962 CAP AND GOWN

The CAP AND GOWN had its origin in 1891 when members of the fraternities on the Mountain put together a paper edition which included lists of fraternity men, reproductions of fraternity crests, and accounts of the University athletic program.

In 1895 the CAP AND GOWN was published in bound form for the first time. The content had shifted to articles written by contributors about actual events happening during the year. The history recorded by annuals of this period was on a more personal basis than the club and team pictures of annuals today. At this time, the CAP AND GOWN appeared spasmodically, since its printing depended on whether or not enough issues could be sold to cover the expenses of publication. When the Navy took charge during World War II, the annual was reduced again to a paper edition.

Since 1947, the CAP AND GOWN has been printed regularly. It is, of course, a pictorial summary of the year's events. We hope it finds favor.

THE SEWANEE PURPLE

Sewanee men of the rough and colorful era of the 1880's wrote, published, and circulated a number of news-sheets based on little but bubbling enthusiasm and purple journalism. The most influential of these were those which appeared weekly, as likely as not, under the grandiose names "The Flea" and "The Dart."

In the early 1890's, according to Mrs. Sarah Hodgson Torian, whose father was Vice-Chancellor then, a more pretentious newspaper was planned and begun under the editorship of John Young Garlington. This was "The Sewanee Times." Shortly, "The Times" was reorganized by Louis Tucker, who became editor of the first Sewanee Purple. Perhaps he had in mind "The Harvard Crimson" when he christened the new paper, and then again, perhaps he did not.

Now in its sixty-eighth year, The Purple remains the weekly newspaper for the Domain; and it still retains at least a touch of that ever-young literary haze which has always been a distinguishing feature of the Sewanee atmosphere. Although governed and subsidized (but not censored) by the University Publications Board, all of the paper's activities are controlled by undergraduates elected in campus-wide spring elections.

The Purple is published every Wednesday during term, except during examinations and University recesses. It provides news coverage of noteworthy events on the Mountain, and includes an exceptional weekly page of sports-reporting and commentary. Centrally emphasized are editorials, student forums, responsible (and lively) student criticism, and jazz and film reviews. Special undergraduate papers on national and local problems, poetry and art criticisms, and philosophy are also published periodically.

THE MOUNTAIN GOAT

After a prolonged period of gestation, the Mountain Goat finally labored and brought forth issue this spring. The resultant Goat, in spite of two heads, seemed normal enough otherwise, invoking, in fact, this comment from one Cassio, a traveling insurance salesman. He said, to wit: "One that excels the quirks of blazoning pens, and in th' essential vesture of creation does tire the ingener." You'll have to admit this is a pretty nice thing to say and well deserved too.

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD

MR. CHITTY
Chairman

The Publications Board like most other Sewanee organizations serves a vital function in life on the Mountain. It is the organization that has been called ". . . the heart of the smooth and successful running of organs of expression at Sewanee." The first duties or functions of the Board are to receive and approve nominations of gownsmen for the editors and business managers of the various student publications, to follow the progress of the publications during the year, and to supervise the allocation of publications funds to the business managers of these organizations. Performing these duties are both student and faculty members. The editors and business managers of the three official student publications, the Sewanee Purple, the CAP AND GOWN, and the Mountain Goat, serve with three faculty members selected by the Vice-Chancellor, two students elected from the Order of Gownsmen, one member of St. Luke's faculty, and one theological student. With its representative leadership the Board acts as a vital cross-section of campus interest and activity, and therefore it is very significant that free rein is given the Board in making policy.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa is the most respected and prominent national honor society in America. Election into the society is recognition of the highest scholastic achievement. Phi Beta Kappa was founded on December 5, 1776 at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia and is the oldest Greek Letter Society in the United States. At the first meeting its principles were stated to be "friendship, morality, and literature." The Sewanee chapter, Tennessee Beta, was founded in 1926. Students eligible for initiation must have a 3.70 average for five semesters or a 3.50 average for seven semesters. The annual functions of Phi Beta Kappa are the awarding of the Scholarship Cup each semester to the fraternity with the highest academic average and the initiation of new members.

Thus, in the words of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, " . . . It holds aloft the old banner of scholarship, and to the students who have turned from the easier paths and by their talent and fidelity have proved themselves to be worthy, it gives the fitting recognition of a special distinction."

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

The National Leadership Honor Society for college men, ODK, was established at Sewanee thirty-three years ago. Membership to this society is a mark of highest distinction and honor and is limited to only three per cent of the student body and to gownsmen. The organization recognizes and encourages the achievement of that character and excellence in scholarship and leadership that makes the well-rounded person in a college institution. Since the eligibility is determined on the basis of a point system which is arranged so that a sufficient number of points can only be acquired by superiority in several different fields, the society is certain of selecting only the best of the student body on these criteria. The members are chosen on the basis of student government, scholarship, athletic ability, publications, speech, and dramatics. However, there is also a great deal of emphasis placed on personal character.

There were three purposes associated with the founding of the ODK fraternity. First, the organization recognizes men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities and thereby endeavors to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainments along similar lines. Second, in bringing together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life, Omicron Delta Kappa endeavors to create an organization which will help to mold the sentiment of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate interest. Third, this fraternity strives to bring together members of the faculty and student body of the University on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

The national organization of ODK was founded at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia on December 3, 1914. In 1929 the Alpha Alpha circle of the fraternity was chartered at the University of the South. The president of Sewanee's chapter this year is Bill Shasteen. There are no regularly scheduled meetings of Omicron Delta Kappa.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities was conceived over twenty-five years ago to answer the need for a way to recognize outstanding college students. It is a means of recognizing deserving college seniors and their accomplishments. The Executive Committee of the Order of Gownsmen nominates twelve seniors each year to be presented in Who's Who. The nominees are chosen on the basis of a point system which was instituted two years ago. Points are granted for scholarship, leadership, and active work in educational and extra-curricular activities.

Each student included in Who's Who receives a certificate which is presented to the university or college. He also receives recognition in the annual publication for the year in which he was selected. Who's Who also provides a placement service to assist its members in finding employment.

Who's Who performs the valuable double function of rewarding deserving college seniors and also acting as a goal toward which undergraduates can strive. It is definitely a worthy honor.

BLUE KEY

Founded thirty-eight years ago, Blue Key is a national honor fraternity composed of those upperclassmen who have exemplified exceptional leadership ability and high character. A candidate for membership is judged upon his superiority in a variety of facets of the collegiate life: scholarship, athletic ability, and participation in student affairs. In addition, he must display a potential for future growth. Traditionally, new members are announced twice in the academic year, both at Homecoming and Spring weekends.

Blue Key has established for itself certain high goals, toward which its every effort is directed. These goals can be realized only through the unified and co-operative effort of outstanding students in American colleges and universities. They are, first, that a strong moral and religious faith may be revitalized and sustained, a patriotic devotion to national precepts of government be nurtured, and a desire for academic excellence be perserved; second, that an awareness of both intellectual and social responsibility be fostered; third, that the collegiate community's problems may be investigated, student life made more full, and action in the best interest of a viable institution of higher learning, of which the fraternity is a part, be advocated and encouraged; and finally, that its members may become mature persons who will stimulate and promote the wellbeing of the community in which they reside, and in doing so bring honor to their university.

The fraternity sponsors a great many major activities at Sewanee. Besides the popular Inter-Fraternity Blue Key Sing, which annually attracts the interest not only of the student body but of the entire surrounding area as well, the organization holds the Homecoming Queen Contest, presenting the winner with a bouquet of roses. Also, the Intramural All-Star football game, the annual pre-season debate tournament, the Sewanee Variety Show, and the occasional providing of ushers and lay readers for services in All Saints' Chapel are all official functions of Blue Key in pursuances of its aims. An organization based on the cooperation and industry of outstanding students, Blue Key is afforded an opportunity to work for the common good of both the college and the community.

THE GERMAN CLUB

The German Club is one of the oldest organizations Sewanee retains, having a history of over ninety colorful years. The Club's primary function is the planning, coordinating, financing, and sponsoring of the University dances held throughout the year.

The club was named after a popular dance in the 19th century and since then many other universities in the South have copied the name for their dance organization. The first dances sponsored by the Club were held in the attic of the old University laundry, and the band would play all night for five dollars.

This year's Club has been under the leadership of President Dick Greene and has set the precedent for future years in many ways. Threatened by disbandment by the University, the Club's new officers and members went to work and spent many long weeks of planning for its Mid-Winter's Dance. The dance sponsored Chuck Berry, one of the most renown names in popular music, and the Bill Johnson Band. The turnout was over one thousand people which is the largest crowd ever to attend a school-sponsored dance, and it was the first time in eighteen years that the Club has made money. Students from colleges all over the South came to Sewanee to attend this dance.

PURPLE MASQUE

We at Sewanee are dependent upon the Purple Masque for our dramatic entertainment. Each year the Purple Masque provides us with an essential element of our existence. Those who desire to participate in any aspect of production are most able to, and those who want an evening's enjoyment are given it.

This year, with the completion of the new auditorium in Guerry Hall, the Masque was able more than ever to be a full-fledged dramatic organization. The excellent working facilities and stage size provide enough room for productions of any magnitude to be presented.

The Purple Masque's big production this year was Shakespeare's Othello. The excellence of the performance went beyond even the anticipation of the organization's director, Mr. Brinley Rhys. The versatility of the Purple Masque is evidenced by the choice of All the King's Men by Robert Penn Warren as its next play.

Membership in the Purple Masque is obtained by receiving points for sufficient participation. At present the only members are Robert Weston, Charles Hoover, Harry Gerhart, and Lamont Major. Mr. Rhys and his wife are respectively director and stage manager.

Drama depicts life, and while there is still life at Sewanee we are indeed fortunate to have as capable an organization as the Purple Masque to do this for us.

Purple Masque members Gerhart, Weston, Hoover, and Major.

THE UNIVERSITY CHOIR

The University Choir, aided by an enlarged budget and new entertainment facilities, expanded this year to include two organizations. The Glee Club, consisting of 47 voices, enjoyed a successful season under the direction of Dr. William Lemonds. An increased number of invitations to perform in many cities gave evidence of the growing popularity of this versatile group.

Among the major activities of the year for the Glee Club were a trip to Sullins College in Bristol, Virginia, and a Spring Vacation tour of Georgia and Florida which included performances in many cities. Other concerts during the year included an appearance at the Upper South Carolina Convention in Spantanburg, as well as many appearances during the year in the new Guerry Auditorium.

The Apollo Club, consisting of 41 voices, enabled many more students to participate in the newly revamped choral program. The group gave a number of admirable performances, including appearances in the annual Service of Nine Lessons and Carols and in the Spring Variety Show.

PI GAMMA MU

McArthur, Vogel, Pickering, Elkins, Wallingford, Jones.

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, was founded in 1924. Now an international body with chapters in the United States, Canada, and the Philippines. Pi Gamma Mu has over one hundred active chapters and more than five thousand members. To be eligible for membership, a student must have taken at least twenty hours in the social sciences, with a grade average of 3.00 or better, and be in the top thirty-five per cent of his class.

The purpose of Pi Gamma Mu is to improve scholarship in the social studies and to achieve synthesis therein; to inspire social service to humanity by an intelligent approach to the solution of social problems; to engender sympathy toward others with different opinions and institutions by a better mutual understanding; and to supplement and to support, but not to supplant existing social science organizations by promoting sociability and attendance at meetings.

Every year Tennessee Beta has a lecture on some field of interest to its members.

SIGMA PI SIGMA

Sigma Pi Sigma is the only national physics honor society. Its chapters, which are restricted to colleges and universities of recognized standing which offer a strong physics major, receive into membership physics students and a few others in closely related fields. Membership is conferred on no other basis than scholarship.

Now national in scope with over 100 active chapters, Sigma Pi Sigma was originally founded as a local chapter at Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina on December 11, 1921. The local chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, which was installed on May 26, 1958 with twenty-four charter members, holds meetings periodically throughout the year, with talks given by eminent outside speakers and by the members themselves. In this way the organization tries to accomplish more than the mere recognition of honor students. Functioning as an integral part of the physics department in the promotion of worthwhile outside activities, the society also strives to promote interest in physics in the general college public.

PI SIGMA ALPHA

Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political science honorary fraternity, chartered its Gamma Sigma chapter at Sewanee in April of 1958. The organization maintains that its purpose is to stimulate productive scholarship and intelligent interest in the subject of government. This goal is realized by the recognition of people who have distinguished themselves in the field of political science, and by the holding of open meetings once or twice a year at which prominent figures in the field of political science speak.

The membership of the organization is drawn from both faculty and student body.

SOPHERIM

The faceless wonders of Sopherim.

Sopherim is the mother chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national collegiate creative writing fraternity. Founded in 1904 through the efforts of William Alexander Percy, it has functioned as a body designed to attract students interested in creative writing and criticism for study. This organization's purpose is to discover and promulgate incipient creative ability. Members are chosen as a result of criticism stemming from work submitted twice annually. Submissions are anonymous and are either accepted or rejected according to literary merit. Over the years, it has been a usual annual event for Sopherim to invite a prominent man of letters to the Mountain. By performing this service to the academic community, Sopherim has stimulated interest in the southern literary Renascence. This has been done via the medium of open meetings featuring such noted lecturers as: Andrew Lytle, Robert Penn Warren, John Crowe Ransom, Randall Jarrell, Eugene Kayden, et al. Members of the faculty are also often invited to speak on topics of interest.

AQUATICS CLUB

The Sewanee Aquatics Club exists to promote aquatic activities, especially the safety of the members of the student body. One of its principal responsibilities is the furnishing of lifeguards for the pool. The club sponsors all lifesaving classes and also runs the annual intramural swimming meet. Any student who holds the rank of Red Cross Water Safety Instructor is eligible for membership upon approval by the active members of the club. All new members of the club pass a semester as non-active members after which they become active members, provided they have fulfilled the obligations of the club.

The Sewanee Forestry Club was established in the fall of 1959 with the purpose of stimulating an active interest in the enjoyment of outdoor life and of promoting a greater understanding of the profession of forestry. The chief activity of the club has been the construction of a cabin and lake on one of the mountain bluffs southwest of the campus. The cabin is built of railroad ties around a huge sandstone fireplace. The three-acre pond was completed last year and since has cooled off numerous hot, tired students. The cabin is used to entertain visiting foresters, provide a source of recreation for Forestry Club members, and as an outlet for their energies. This year's first semester officers were John Waddell, Dave Long, and Rusty Frank. Second semester officers were Rick Applegate, Ed McLellan, and Rick McIver.

FORESTRY CLUB

UNIVERSITY BAND

The University has seen this year an amazing rise in ability in the University band. The band, under the leadership of student Robert Weston, is composed of 33 members. Besides playing at the football and basketball games this small but balanced group put on two successful concerts and participated in the campus Variety Show, playing its part in the full music program on the mountain.

The Sewanee Jazz Society was founded in 1958 by a group of students and faculty members interested in promoting jazz and in bringing it to the Mountain. Membership is limited to fifteen upperclassmen, plus associate members equaling the number of graduating seniors, subject to unanimous election by the Society. While the group has been partially paralyzed by the loss of its room in the Music Building, the group plans to promote at least one concert this year.

JAZZ SOCIETY

STUDENT VESTRY

Elected members from each class in the University, one representative from the School of Theology, and one representative of the Sewanee Military Academy comprise the Student Vestry. Meeting monthly with the Chaplain of the University, the Vestry organizes the religious activities of the campus and also handles the budget for All Saints' and St. Augustine's Chapels.

The Vestry sponsors many worthwhile activities. It selects outstanding preachers for special services at All Saints', and then following 11 o'clock service holds a discussion period in which members of the congregation may question the preacher about his sermon. In connection with the Chaplain, the Vestry also sponsors an Inquirers' Class for those interested in becoming Episcopalians.

The Acolyte's Guild of All Saints' Chapel is the organization that furnishes all the servers for the innumerable church services that are held during the year. In close conjunction with the Sewanee Community Chest, the Guild helps to sponsor the St. Mark's Milk Fund drive. This provides milk for the students in the local Colored school. This year was highlighted by a successful campaign for funds and the revision of the acolyte handbook.

ACOLYTE'S GUILD

S. V. F. D.

The Sewanee Fire Department is an organization made up of student volunteers. The training which these men undergo prepares them to serve as fire fighters on the University domain and surrounding areas. The twenty men that constitute this unit are divided into companies commanded by department officers. Membership in this organization is achieved in several stages. Prospective firemen must demonstrate a complete and working knowledge of all equipment and fire fighting techniques. This is accomplished only by regular attendance at group drill and individual study of apparatus and domain topography. These men quickly learn that the ominous sound of the "fire bell in the night" may call them either to a minor brush fire or to a structure transformed into a roaring inferno. Student disappointment at department speed and skill is the fireman's greatest reward.

The Waiters' Guild, an organization of thirty students who are responsible for serving meals in Gailor, was reorganized in 1957 after many years of inactivity. The Guild was organized to provide financial assistance to those students who were willing to give up their time for the work. Its members are selected from those students who apply and nearly every fraternity and every class from freshman to senior is represented.

During the fall semester the Guild was under the leadership of John Waddell, who served as headwaiter. Dick Frye took over this job during the Spring Semester. The headwaiter is in charge of all affairs involving the serving of food in the dining hall and is directly responsible to Mr. W. N. Porter, manager of the dining hall. To assist the headwaiter there is also an Executive Committee composed of the Captains of the four teams into which the Guild is divided.

STUDENT WAITER'S GUILD

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

Beer mugs in hand and lusty voices united in traditional German songs signify another meeting of Sewanee's friendliest language clubs. Open to all who esteem German culture and language, the Verein presents programs ranging from color slide travelogues to spirited Teutonic festival observances. This year has been the Verein's most prosperous as is evidenced by its well-attended meetings and ample treasury. Highlights included the waltzing of the Erntefest, the lovely Feurbowle of the Christmas party, the Berlin panel discussion, the Baroque music concert, and the annual year-end blow-out, the Abschlass Kneipe. Meetings are held on alternate Monday evenings, and the facilities of the new Guerry Building have added much to the prevailing atmosphere of good fellowship.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Once every two weeks in the cave of Guerry, the French speaking set of Sewanee meets for conversation, guest speakers, movies, and refreshment. In an enjoyable way, much is learned about the French and their language. As a part of the Christmas celebration, carols are sung in French around the campus. Finally, le sommet gastronomique de l'année, a full French banquet, featuring tasty dishes such as pâté maison, escargots, crêpes suzettes, coquilles de Saint-Jacques, etc. The adviser is Mr. Lockard and the officers for 1961-62 were Gordon Peyton, president; Blanchard Weber, vice president; King Young, secretary; and Bruce Aldrich, treasurer.

HISPANOFILOS

The Spanish Club is made up of students of Spanish interests in Hispanic culture and language and is under the advisorship of Professors Pickering and Rogerson. In an effort to increase fluency in the languages, all meetings are carried on in Spanish. In addition to its other activities, the club is planning to produce short one act Spanish plays and to introduce speakers on Spanish culture. Expanding the activities of the club, several members are making a trip to Mexico City during the Spring holidays. Mike Dicus is in charge of making arrangements for the trip and is seeking the most economical way to see the city. The president for the academic year 1961-1962 is Clay Ewing and secretary, Eddie Gross.

WELLINGTON CLUB

According to one story, the Wellington Club was established at Sewanee around an ancient recipe for Planter's Punch passed on to Mr. Abbott Martin by the Duke of Wellington. The Duke relinquished the recipe on his deathbed with these last words: "Abbott, I don't know what effect this drink will have upon those Sewanee boys, but by God, it terrifies me."

This year the noble peers have been governed with great reserve and decorum by Lord Francis Guillard Middleton, Prime Min'ster; the Rather Rev. Richard Williford Tillinghast, Archbishop of Canterbury; Sir Robert Francis Baker, Jr., Keeper of the Privy Seal; and Sir Hubert Frederick Fisher, III, Lord Chancellor of the Exchequer.

HIGHLANDERS

The Highland dress marks a social organization of distinction on the Mountain. With the old dress go the gracious manner, stately demeanor, and courtly graces that have even distinguished the Highlander. Clad in kilt and plaid, in bonnet and feather, the Highlanders gather on noteworthy occasions during the year imbuing themselves in the tradition and spirits of Scotland. Morgan's Steep and Natural Bridge ring with the reveling of the clan on party weekends. The Highlander in his manner reflects the freedom and unrestraint of the Scottish highlands.

LOS PEONES

To be eligible for membership in Los Peones one must have either taken Spanish or be acquainted with the heritage of that sunny land south of the border or have read the stirring autobiography of Señor Rogerson. The Los Peones keep alive the traditions of the oldest segment of post-Colombian North American culture. They wear as their distingnishing costumes sombreros, serapes, and other articles of clothing reminiscent of Old Mexico. The Los Peones maintain that their purposes are "to stimulate conversational Spanish, promote fellowship on the campus and study the social customs of Spain." The biggest push toward these goals usually comes on party week ends.

TENNESSEE OMEGA CHAPTER

Sewanee's oldest fraternity entered its 85th year with Mississippi's Phil George as President. The Tennessee Omega Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega pledged seventeen freshmen who elected Woody Hannum president of the pledge class. After rush the Alpha Taus settled down to the pleasant routine of University life, interrupting it occasionally for parties or general merriment.

The fall of 1961 was to see Taus as Head Proctor, president of the German Club, captains of four varsity sports, associate and news editors of The Purple, and as the lead in the Purple Masque production of Othello. Blue and Gold teams operated effectively to win first places in intramural football and cross-country. Brother McCrady toured England, the continent, and Russia as part of a group investigating European educational techniques. Many Tau voices supplemented the University Choir. As members of the mountain community visited the house after the beautiful Christmas chapel service, the halls of Tennessee Omega were filled with the festive air of the annual ATO Christmas Tea.

For the students the fall was without snow but upon return from the holidays the University was to be found under a magic white covering. Those from the deep South were to be found tossing snowballs about or sledding down the hill near Hunter Hall while their more sophisticated brothers passively accepted the snow as the mark of a new season.

Winter came and with it the realization of the approach of finals. Students became particularly concerned about those things which they ought to have done but have not done. This active time of the year saw Ted Stirling of South Carolina elected president of the fraternity for the second semester.

Plans for the ensuing semester include preparing for the 56th annual Spring Tea, continuance of fielding threatening teams in the intramural league, much scholastic endeavor, and the general exercise of fraternity fellowship.

GAMMA CHI CHAPTER

The Gamma Chi chapter of Beta Theta Pi was founded at Sewanee in December of 1948. The first hard years that every chapter faces at its beginnings are now over, and Beta already is beginning to benefit from its work. The first house the chapter occupied was the small Phi Delt house which the University had bought some years before. The new house was started in 1957 and was ready in 1958. Beta has grown so fast since then that renovation of the structure was found necessary this year.

The fraternity had an excellent rush program this year. Led by Frank Stubblefield, the highlight of the year was the tea held this fall. This was well attended by both faculty and students.

In intramural sports, Beta has made a good showing in different fields. Beta has been strong in football, volleyball, and basketball, as well as in track and swimming. The chapter also boasts of a good many men participating in varsity sports, especially in football.

On the social side of things, Beta has had some fine parties in its short and active life. Homecoming was an unqualified success, as were Mid-Winters and Spring Week-End. All and all, it has been a successful year for Beta. The future looks bright.

BETA THETA CHAPTER

Since its founding at Sewanee in 1883, Beta Theta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has maintained high participation in and contributions to campus life. Many of the outstanding graduates of Sewanee have been brothers of Beta Theta.

Chapter advisor, the Rt. Rev. Frank A. Juhan, was an outstanding athlete in his undergraduate days at Sewanee and an outstanding bishop and benefactor of the University. Other noteworthy Sewanee Delts include the Rt. Rev. H. D. Phillips, a member of the National Football Hall of Fame; Newton Middleton, author of the Alma Mater; and W. Dudley Gale, an outstanding benefactor of the University.

The present active fraternity carries on the Delt tradition of participation in all phases of Sewanee life—from varsity sports to scholastic honors. Delts participate on virtually every varsity team at Sewanee. Intramural athletes attracts the enthusiasm of the brothers, both as participants and team-backing spectators. The intramural record of the Chapter to date has been very good and the Chapter looks forward to more successes in Spring sports.

Athletics is by no means the sole interest of Delta Tau Delta. The popular is the scene of many social functions throughout the year—from Saturday night get-togethers to formal banquets. With a newly remodeled House, the Chapter has held outstanding parties on University weekends and has hosted a great number of informal gatherings.

Scholastics is an important part of Sewanee life and the Delt program. The pledge class was ranked second in scholarship among all fraternities and organizations. The Chapter continues to rank high in scholarship and representation in scholastic honor organizations at Sewanee.

Delta Tau Delta carries forth its program of blending all phases of campus life towards its goal of excelling in all fields. The success of the past and the present promises an even greater success in the future.

ALPHA ALPHA CHAPTER

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington and Lee University in December of 1865. Alpha Alpha Charter of Kappa Alpha, established in 1883 at Sewanee, has continued to carry on the traditions, principles, and ideals of the Order. The main aim of KA is the cultivation of those virtues and graces that make a gentleman. Such a gentleman was Robert E. Lee, the spiritual founder of Kappa Alpha. General Lee was a perfect example of the genuine and fine character that all members think of as the criterion of being a true gentleman. In keeping with the Southern tradition, our colors are crimson and old gold; the official flowers are the red rose and the magnolia blossom. Kappa Alpha Order, though Southern in origin, is nevertheless, not sectional.

Homecoming and W. and L. weekends were two of the best party weekends we have had in a long time. Mid-Winters was very successful, also, and for the future a Spring weekend is planned.

During the rush season KA pledged 23 new men. Plans for the future look quite prosperous. Great stress is being put on scholastic improvements and continued good work in the intramural field. A great deal of credit should go to the brothers who are holding positions on many of the campus organizations. KA can be proud of its brothers who are in governmental and honorary positions in the student organizations such as, the Honor Council, the Blue Key, and the Purple. KA's are also active in various other extra-curricular activities, ranging from athletics to dramatics.

Ensconced in tradition, upholding its ideals and the spirit of its founders, and proud of its rich Southern heritage, Kappa Alpha at Sewanee looks with confidence to the coming year, striving as ever, for excellence.

TENNESSEE OMEGA CHAPTER

Kappa Sigma, founded at the University of Virginia on December 10, 1869, established Omega at Sewanee in 1882. Omega was the third chapter of a national fraternity on the Mountain. It operated sub rosa for some months and then was recognized by the University following a personal request from Jefferson Davis, Kappa Sigma's only honorary member, to Sewanee's General Kirby-Smith. A marker in the east entrance to the Guerry Building states "Near here stood the first fraternity house in America owned by a Kappa Sigma Chapter, 1883."

Omega has undertaken an extensive program of redecoration for its present home. After a fire in 1955 the three upstairs rooms were remodeled. Two years ago a porch was added and dedicated to the late William Ridley Burgess ('63). This year the house is undergoing an interior refinishing which includes oak paneling of the living room walls, a new surface on that same room's floor, a new floor for the chapter room, game room, and bar as well as several new couches, tables, lamps, and rugs.

Kappa Sigma started off the year pledging eighteen men and subsequently pledged five more—bringing us up to a total of sixty-four men, one of the largest chapters on campus. The pledges are planning to paint the upstairs of the house as their contribution to the house's redecoration.

Omega has continued to maintain its high campus standing with officers and members in the Order of Gownsmen, Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Pi Gamma Mu, Sopherim, Blue Key, the Red and Green Ribbon Societies, Purple Masque, the Jazz Society, the Honor Council, the Acolytes' Guild, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, etc. The editors of the CAP AND GOWN, the Mountain Goat and the senior class are all Kappa Sigs.

Omega has been in the running in every sport in intramural competition this year, placing men on the football and basketball All-Star teams. Many of the brothers are actively interested in such varsity sports as football, swimming, wrestling, and track.

As in the past, the Kappa Sig house has been the scene of some of the liveliest and most memorable parties on the Mountain. Along with the scheduled party weekends at Homecoming, Midwinters, and Spring other occasions such as Pledge Day, Founder's Day, the annual Christmas party, and other informal occasions are good excuses for the Kappa Sigs to party.

THE SEWANEE COLONY

The Sewanee Colony of Lambda Chi Alpha was founded on May 6, 1961, the first national fraternity to come on the Mountain since 1948. Originally founded at Boston University in 1909, Lambda Chi Alpha is now the largest in number of chapters. With the founding of a chapter at the University of Toronto in 1927, Lambda Chi Alpha became an international fraternity. The Sewanee Colony is now in its first house, but the plans are now being designed for the construction of a new house to accommodate the growth of the fraternity.

Led by an able Rush Chairman, John Rose, the colony entered its first rush in the fall of 1961. Lambda Chi Alpha pledged one of the largest classes on the Mountain with 22 new men. The pledge class, instructed by John McDonald, Pledge Trainer, was successful in learning the ways of the fraternity and Sewanee. Chief in the efforts of the pledge class was partial renovation of the house. Numbering 16 active members at the first of the year, the colony has grown to 34 active members and 6 pledges.

Lambda Chi Alpha has become known on the Mountain for its scholarship and public service. In its first year, the colony has performed services for the Tennessee Botanical Gardens and Epiphany Mission parish church in Sherwood, Tennessee. The brothers of the colony have many diverse interests; ranging from track to glee club, newspaper work to carillon playing. Social Chairman, Frank Bennett, arranged parties at the Lambda Chi Alpha house that were high spots during the party weekends.

The colony is preparing with a great deal of effort for the granting of the charter by the national fraternity, scheduled for 1963. Thus with the end of the academic year of 1961-62, marked by the colony's successful "first initiation," Lambda Chi Alpha looks forward to future growth and success on the Mountain.

TENNESSEE BETA CHAPTER

Tennessee Beta of Phi Delta Theta was formally recognized by National Headquarters in the fall of 1883 and became one of the four fraternities then at Sewanee. There were no fraternity houses on the Mountain that year, but in 1884 the Brothers bought a small frame house which became the first fraternity house in the South and the first house owned by Phi Delta Theta. Then, in 1907, plans were completed and work began on the present home of the fraternity. When original completions were made, the house consisted of only the front room and the basement. However, in 1927, a back room, library, and pool room were added, the upstairs chapter room being completed soon after. The pool room and chapter room were given by the chapter advisor, Dr. O. N. Torian, and Mrs. Torian as memorials to their two sons. In keeping with traditional Sewanee architecture, The Castle is modeled after Founders' Tower, Oxford University, England. Since the actual completion of the house, other smaller additions have been added, such as the downstairs T.V. room and the patio.

Under the leadership of Bill Trimble and Rush Chairman Ed Uden, the Phis increased their membership to sixty-one during the fall, just five short of the quota imposed by the University. Duncan McArthur, who took over the helm second semester, has guided the chapter in campus leadership, in social life, intramural athletics, and scholarship.

Presently holding the intramural championship trophy, the Phis are in strong contention for 1962. At the time of this writing, the Phis are in second place in the race for the trophy.

Scholastically, Phi Delta Theta ranks among the top numbers: the fraternity average is well above All Men's.

The social life of the fraternity has been unusually active and successful this year, due in part to the abilities of some of the more vocal Brothers. The fall saw more than the usual numbers of parties, particular successes being held at Homecoming and W and L weekends. There are, of course, plans for more parties in the spring, especially Phi Not So Formal.

GAMMA SIGMA CHAPTER

Gamma Sigma Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta was founded in 1919. Phi Gamma Delta was originally founded at Jefferson College, Penn., on May 1, 1848. The national fraternity's expansion was into the South as most of Jefferson's students hailed from that area. During the Civil War many of these chapters were lost to the national. After this trying period in our nation's history, Phi Gamma Delta expanded in the East, Mid-West, Southwest, South, and Far West in that order. Today Phi Gamma Delta is an international fraternity with 87 chapters in the United States and Canada. There are over 60,000 FIJIs today wearing the black diamond, the symbol of membership in the fraternity.

Gamma Sigma grew rapidly after its installation at Sewanee. During the war years the chapter was on inactive status but with the help of Dr. James Thorogood, Gamma Sigma got back on its feet and has been on the move ever since. The potentialities of the new lodge were fully realized this year, contributing to a very successful rush season and outstanding social events. The highlight of the year as usual was the Fiji weekend blow-out which included the annual pig dinner and the "island party."

The Fijis packed the line-ups in varsity athletics again this year with roughly one-third of the chapter on the different squads. In intramurals the men from Gamma Sigma carried off a second in football, first in basketball, and second in track to set a competitive pace towards the trophy.

Many new appointments have been added to the house including new pieces of furniture and a new pool table. The house, after three semesters of use, has demonstrated its function as a warm melting-place for the brothers and we look forward to many more enjoyable leisure hours in it.

TENNESSEE OMEGA CHAPTER

On March 9, 1856, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was founded at the University of Alabama by eight men who were dedicated to the ideals of a true fraternal order and who were determined to see that their aspirations become real. Since then S.A.E. has grown to be the largest fraternity in America and one which is markedly strong on almost any college campus in the country.

In 1831, the Tennessee Omega chapter of S.A.E. was founded at The University of the South. Since this date the fraternity has been active in many affairs on campus. It is interesting to note also that Tennessee Omega was the first chapter of S.A.E. to have its own house, a factor which contributes to the reason that Tennessee Omega is considered a national shrine (it has the only gold lion in the country in front of its house). This year the fraternity has again distinguished itself in athletics, social, and extra-curricular activities.

Athletically, the fraternity had the best freshman football player on the varsity football team, the starting guard on the basketball team, the highpoint man on the swimming team, a runner-up in the S.E.C. wrestling tournament, and lettermen on the track and various other varsity teams. George Lewis, the Eminent Archon of the fraternity for the spring semester of 1962, was also elected captain of the 1963 swimming team. The fraternity has also done very well in intramurals, winning swimming, placing second in wrestling, and finishing in the top of many other events.

Socially, the fraternity has also distinguished itself. During homecoming of this year, the S.A.E. candidate for homecoming queen was chosen from nine other contestants representing the other fraternities on campus. During "midwinters" the fraternity was said to have had the best parties on campus. The fraternity also has the largest number of its members in the social drinking clubs on the Mountain.

In extra-curricular activities, the fraternity distinguished itself as having the editor of the Sewanee Purple, several members of the Order of Gownsmen, and members of many other honorary organizations on the campus.

One of the attributes the fraternity ascribes to itself is that of having a well-rounded chapter. It consists of men who are good students and those who are varsity lettermen on various athletic teams. This individualism combined with an acute sense of unity is what makes S.A.E. the outstanding organization that it is.

BETA OMICRON CHAPTER

President
MAX McCORD

Beta Omicron chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity was founded in 1889, twenty years after the national fraternity was formed at V.M.I. The original charter was shortlived, becoming dormant in 1892.

In the spring of 1920, eight Sewanee students organized a local fraternity, Tau Gamma Phi, with the intention of petitioning a national fraternity for a charter. After several months' deliberation, a petition was sent to Sigma Nu for a charter. By March of the following year, the charter had been granted and the chapter became fully and formally recognized.

The new chapter began its first full year since its recognition by pledging a group of outstanding students, including Thomas R. (Slim) Waring, and Thomas H. Wright, now Bishop of East Carolina, and one of the four Episcopal bishops who have affiliated with the chapter.

With the granting of the chapter, the next task was to acquire a chapter house. For a few months the chapter rented a small building, and then bought the log cabin vacated by the Kappa Sigmas who had moved to their present location. This building served as the chapter house for six years, until the present house, designed by Charles E. Thomas, an alumnus of Beta Omicron, was completed in 1927.

By 1950, the house had been paid for and the mortgage was completed. The following year, renovations were made on the house, conditioning it for many more years of fraternal gatherings.

Beta Omicron was noted during the early 1950's for its accomplishments in intramural athletics, taking the intramural trophy several consecutive years. Both active and pledge participation has been good, with fine support from the other members.

Although Sigma Nu's challenges in intramural contests have always been respected, and along with its parties and social events, Beta Omicron has always kept scholastic achievements in line with its other achievements. Beta Omicron climbed from ninth place in 1958 to second in the spring of 1960 in scholastic improvements. Many of the brothers are active in various extra-curricular activities, ranging from dramatics to athletics. And with the welcome addition of this year's pledge class, Beta Omicron shows promise of greater improvement in the future.

INDEPENDENT MEN

The Association of Independent Men now moves into its second decade at the University of the South. The Association has become an integral part of Sewanee's varied life. This year has been an extremely active one for the Independents in all aspects of campus life. Independents participated in intramural sports, school publications, and dramatic presentations. Several members gained top honors in the area of scholarship and campus leadership.

This year also marks the opening of the Independent house. This structure, finished in November, has been enjoyed greatly by its members and has already been the scene of several parties. The Independents look forward to continued success.

Pan-Hellenic Council President
TOM MYERS

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The Pan-Hellenic Council consists of the President and one other representative from each of the ten fraternities and the Association of Independent Men. The Council provides an opportunity for the members to discuss interfraternity issues and conflicts that come before the Executive Committee of the Order of Gownsmen and to work out, with the Administration, an effective program that will benefit the aims of both the University and the fraternities.

Most of the Council's work is concerned with Rush Week and the regulation thereof at the beginning of the academic year. Fraternity pledge training programs are also under the supervision of the Pan Hellenic Council which, in this case, is concerned with the more ethical aspects of the programs. The Council hears cases involving violations of its rules.

The University administration and fraternities depend on the Council as a mediator when conflict arises between the two; and, in the case of proposals made by the lodges, the Council may pass them on to University officials and the Dean of Men for consideration.

FEATURES . . .

Miss Sewanee was picked this year by Mr. Percy Dovetonsils, Star. Mr. Dovetonsils is a man of varied and encompassing talents. In addition to his famous consultation service, he has also won accolades for his splendid performances in the recent motion pictures, "I Was a Comsymp For The John Birch Society" and "Hey, Let's Minuet!" He is also noted for his character sketches, the most famous of these being his character, "Ernie Kovacs." In fact, he has developed this imaginative personage to the point where people actually think Mr. Dovetonsils is Ernie Kovacs. He'll always remain "good old Perce" to those of us who really know him, however.

Gentlemen:

After many months of detailed study and argument, my staff and I called a truce, and we have finally chosen a girl for your ''Miss Sewanee.'' Unfortunately, she was not entered by you, but we here at the COOL SCHOOL kinda liked her anyway. But I digress . . .

Through the use of our talented staff, (Einny, Meeny and Moe) (Minny was on another job) we have selected Miss Diana Walker.

By the way, next time send the stuff in a plain brown wrapper; the boys over in the post office are getting a little suspicious.

Lots of love and charm,
PERCY
